Disregard Possible Bill Veto

House Passes a Control Measure 312 to 20 on Subversives

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — (AP) — Disregarding the chance of a presidential veto, the House today passed a subversives control bill calling for peacetime registration of Communists and wartime internment of potential spies and saboteurs.

The vote was 312 to 20. Agreeing to a Senate-House compromise on conflicting versions of the bill, the House sent it back to the Senate for expected speedy concurrence.

By completing congressional action at once, the Senate could send the bill to the White House in time for President Truman to act on it before Congress begins a hoped-for adjournment or recess this week-end.

Should President Truman decide to veto it, today's top-heavy vote made it almost certain that the House would override it by the necessary two-thirds vote.

Other Measures Up
The bill is one of three measures standing between Congress and a vacation.

It will be followed by another Senate-House compromise, a $17,000,000,000 defense appropriation measure. The major issue in this measure is a Senate-voted ban against economic aid to nations shipping arms or component parts to Russia or her friends.

The third "must" bill, boosting taxes by an estimated $5,000,000,000 a year, is slated for House consideration tomorrow if Senate-House conferees have a compromise version ready.

The House votes first on all three bills, with the Senate ready to follow suit in a hurry.

If the original House roll call on the anti-subversive bill is a barometer, today's vote will be convincing proof that a veto would not stick. The House last month passed a somewhat similar bill by a 354 to 20 vote, or far more than the two-thirds needed to upset a veto. The same was true of the Senate's 70 to 7 vote.

Might Give Approval
There is no assurance that Mr. Truman will veto the bill. In fact, some House sources close to him think he will approve it, perhaps with a critical statement, in time for Congress to get away by the end of this week. The compromise bill is a redraft of earlier versions which the President publicly objected to on the ground they would endanger the rights of loyal citizens.

The bill's backers have no intention of permitting Congress to adjourn or recess until the President acts. They don't want a post-adjournment veto to kill the measure.

A White House aide last night withheld comment on the possibility of a veto, but said that of some 6,000 telegrams and letters received in the last four or five days on the issue, only 200 favored the anti-communist legislation.

Highest Prices on Steers to 4-H Clubs

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill. Sept. 20—(AP)—The highest prices of the year for good and choice beef on the hoof today went to 4-H club boys and girls from more than 30 Missouri and Illinois counties in a special marketing program here.

The youths sold 375 fat steers representing about 187 tons of beef in a $100,000 sale. The steers averaged about $300 a head and were purchased largely for restaurants and night clubs in the St. Louis area.

Captured North Korean Gun

U. S. delegate Warren Austin displays a captured North Korean machine gun bearing 1950 Soviet markings at the U. N. Security Council session at Lake Success, N. Y., after reading Gen. Douglas MacArthur's report which charged that Russia supplied the North Korean Communists with weapons and munitions as late as 1950. The weapon was an exhibit of the report. Soviet delegate Jacob A. Opposes Ban Proposed on Economic Aid

President Says It is "Fraught With Danger to Peace"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman called on Congress today to wipe out a Senate-approved proposal to ban economic aid to countries selling war potential goods behind the Iron Curtain.

He said the proposal is "fraught with danger to the United States and world peace" and would "weaken the free nations more than it would weaken the Soviet bloc."

Mr. Truman previously had been reported opposed to the proposal which the Senate hitched to the $17,000,000,000 emergency defense money bill.

He expressed his views publicly today in letters to the chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees, just before the House was slated to take up the compromise measure.

The President wrote that nobody can quarrel with the ostensible purpose of the amendment, sponsored by Senate Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska, but he said it would accomplish about the opposite of what is intended.

In similar letters to Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the Senate committee and Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House committee, he urged Congress to omit the rider.

"This amendment is of such grave importance, and is fraught with such danger to the United States and to world peace," Mr. Truman said, "that I feel I must make a special request to the Congress to eliminate it in completing action upon this bill."

Approval Predicted
But despite the objections of Mr. Truman and other administration leaders, key men in the House predicted privately that the proposal would be approved.

Mr. Truman said the amendment not only to arms and armaments but to anything that could be used to produce military material.

Since almost all goods and commodities can be used in one way or another for military production, the President said, the Wherry amendment would "require a substantially complete embargo on trade between western and eastern Europe."

He said that countries taking part in the European recovery program have forbidden exports of arms and armaments to Russia and her satellites for some two years. He said there has

Approve Increase In Taxes

Compromise on $4,700,000,000 Is Reached by The Conferees

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — (AP) — A compromise $4,700,000,000 tax-boosting bill was approved today by a Senate-House conference committee.

This opened the way for Congress to send the bill to President Truman by Friday night—and for Congress to recess this week-end until after the November elections.

The conferees approved the compromise by breaking a deadlock through this action:

1. They threw out a 10 percent withholding levy on corporation dividends, which they had approved only yesterday. This was intended to collect about $190,000,000 a year from persons who fail to pay income taxes on the dividends they receive.

2. They eliminated a controversial provision in the bill, inserted by the Senate, dealing with the taxation of family business partnerships.

It was on this issue particularly that the conferees became deadlocked earlier today. Some House conferees had contended the Senate provision would open the way for some persons to make business partners of their minor children and thereby reduce their income taxes.

3. Did an about-face on another issue dealing with the taxation of life insurance companies. Today the conferees agreed that the companies should be taxed $122,000,000 on their investment income, for the years 1949 and 1950. Yesterday they had said the tax should be $176,000,000, dating back to cover 1948, 1949 and 1950.

4. Knocked out a Senate bill provision that would have provided capital gains tax treatment, instead of higher personal income tax rates, to income of persons selling or leasing oil rights. This had been one of the principal items in dispute.

No change was made in the most important provisions of the measure, providing for increase of almost $3,000,000,000 a year in personal income taxes and $1,500,000,000 a year additional taxes for corporations.

Congress may quit with a firm understanding that it will return to work—possibly right after the November elections—to act on a "second installment" bill including an excess profits tax to take the profits out of war.

Apply To 1950 Income
The two bills together might increase 1951 taxes by $12,000,000,000. Both measures would apply also to part of 1950 income of individuals and corporations.

The first bill would:

1. Boost income taxes of over $50,000,000 individuals by nearly $3,000,000,000. Withholding rates on wages and salaries, after personal exemptions, would increase by about one-fifth effective October 1.

2. Increase corporation taxes by $1,500,000,000 a year, with the higher rates effective retroactively on one-half of 1950 corporation income.

3. Speed up corporation income tax payments to bring into the treasury an extra $1,000,000,000 a year over next five years. This would be done by gradually shortening the time for paying the previous year's taxes.

4. Exclude from taxation all pay earned by GI's in combat zones, and give reductions to their officers.

5. Plug various tax law loopholes.

The committee also decided yesterday to tax the investment income of life insurance companies over the last three years—1948-50 inclusive, to yield the treasury an extra $140,000,000.

Burns To Death As Auto Ditched

GRANDVIEW, Mo., Sept. 20—(AP)—An automobile and a pickup truck collided on U. S. highway 71 near here yesterday, plunged into a ditch and burst into flames. One man was burned to death. Three other persons were injured.

The state highway patrol said the man burned fatally was identified as Alva Kinnison, Sr., 52, Stilwell, Kas., the driver of the truck.

Three occupants of the auto were injured. They were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Campbell, Independence, Mo., and their son-in-law, Edward Lund, 24, Liberty, Mo.

Dick Sklar Jaycees Speaker

The regular semi-monthly dinner meeting for the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the Pioneer Room over Dan's restaurant.

Dick Sklar, well known athlete, will be the principal speaker and will talk generally about football. The speaker will be introduced by Bert Hathaway, program chairman.

Bob Wall, president, will preside over a short business meeting. The Jaycee membership cards will be presented to all members present. Reports on various activities the Jaycees have undertaken will also be discussed.

Explosion of Meteor in Sky

Area From Paducah, Ky., to Nashville, Tenn., Is Jarred

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 20—(AP)—A meteor flashed through the sky to the west of here early today and apparently exploded in the air jarring an area from Paducah, Ky., to Memphis, Tenn.

The Illinois Central railroad dispatcher in Paducah said reports from all along his line to Memphis told of a jar of an explosion.

He said a railroad signalman at Covington, Tenn., 40 miles to the north of Memphis, told of seeing a ball of fire in the sky getting larger and larger, then exploding.

The IC dispatcher's account was related here by Fred Denton, the Tennessee central dispatcher who said the IC man called to ask if there had been an explosion.

At Memphis, 220 miles southwest, the Shelby county state highway patrol sent six cars racing north of the city. The county radio officer said one car reported the meteor hit in the vicinity of Hatchie Bottoms, a semi-swamp area between Memphis and the Millington naval base, about 20 miles away. This report was not confirmed.

At Murray, Ky., William Barnett, a filling station operator, reported a piece of the meteor fell on his farm nine miles east of Murray, near Wildcat creek on Kentucky lake. He took the object to the west Kentucky town. Observers said it was about the size of a man's head.

A report of the sky flash was given in Memphis by American Airlines Capt. H. J. Garman of Dallas, Tex. Garman had just landed a DC-6 with 41 passengers from Washington.

"We sighted that thing about one-thirty a. m. CST some 50 miles east of Nashville," Garman said.

With Brilliant Flash
"I was flying at 18,000 feet and it looked as though it came right across our nose."

"I tell you, I never saw such a brilliant flash of light before. No, it wasn't a clear light. It seemed to be burning with an orange, yellow and blue flame."

"I can't say for sure whether it burned out in the air or hit the ground. I've seen hundreds and hundreds of meteors, but that was the lowest I ever saw one."

"I tell you, it lit up the whole sky."

Garman had seen the flash up close about 250 miles from where it apparently ended. The CAA operator at the Nashville airport said it lit the sky "bright as day" and he thought it landed between the field and the city, only five miles away.

Patrolman Albert K. Yancy of Paducah said witnesses reported the meteor lighted up the Paducah area about 2 a. m. (CST) so brightly "you could almost read a newspaper."

Yancy said the CAA told him that the meteor apparently exploded between Paducah and Nashville, though the exact location was not determined.

At Cairo, Ill., Wayman Presley reported the meteor appeared to explode and then continue on its course over southern Illinois, leaving a black cloud in its wake.

"While fishing in an open boat near Cairo at approximately 2:05 a. m. (CST) today I saw a blinding meteorite followed by a terrific explosion which echoed more than a minute," Presley said.

"The object did not appear to change its course or form at the point of explosion but left a black cloud in a clear sky."

Persons as far north as St. Louis also reported seeing the meteor.

Some Decline in Wholesale Food Price Index

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index declined this week to $6.67 from $6.68 a week ago.

It was 16.6 per cent above the year ago figure of $5.72.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use. The index had advanced three cents last week.

Under Gunfire The Marines Make Dash To Capture Seoul

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—The Senate today confirmed General George C. Marshall's appointment as Secretary of Defense.

The vote on confirmation was 57 to 11.

Marshall, a five-star general who was the Army's Chief of Staff during World War II and later served as Secretary of State, succeeds Louis Johnson.

There remained for Marshall only the formal oath-taking.

Beachhead at Samchok Is Established

Four Crossings Of Nakdong River By UN Forces

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—The army announced today that South Korean marines have landed and established a beachhead at Samchok on the east coast of Korea opposite Seoul.

Samchok is the eastern terminus of a railway which crosses Korea to Seoul. The rail line is a possible route for Communist reinforcements and supplies moving toward the Korean capital, which American marines are near on their advance from the west coast.

An army spokesman told reporters at the Pentagon that the landing of South Korean marines at Samchok occurred several days ago. He said he had no information as to the size of the landing force.

Samchok is about 105 miles north of the port of Pohang, which the Third South Korean division occupied after it was bombed several days ago by the Battleship Missouri.

In addition to being the eastern terminus of a railroad to Seoul, Samchok is also an important point on the coastal highway leading from North Korea toward the battle area in southeast Korea.

Cross Nakdong River
The army spokesman confirmed that United Nations forces in the southeast have made four crossings of the Nakdong river. He said the 24th division is moving large numbers of troops across the river southwest of Taegu, and that three other crossings have been made in the 2nd division area.

In the extreme south, the spokesman continued, the Korean Communists are still putting up heavy resistance.

The navy reported that planes of Naval Task Force 77 off Inchon had destroyed seven enemy tanks, three locomotives and a number of small troop-carrying boats.

A reporter asked whether an announcement that the army is sending heavy underwear for troops to Korea indicates that the fighting is expected to extend into the winter. The spokesman replied that, in any event, a number of American troops will be there.

Cancer Clinic Be Held Friday Afternoon

The Cancer Clinic will be held in the basement of the Nurses' Home at Bothwell hospital at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Dr. J. W. Walker will be in charge, assisted by some of the members of the Pettis County Medical society.

Increase of 16,271 In Government Employees

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—The executive branch of the federal government had 1,982,715 employees at the end of July, the Civil Service commission said today. This was an increase of 16,271 during the month.

The military departments and the Selective Service system reported increases totaling more than 27,700. The commerce and agriculture departments and the Veterans Administration reported large decreases.

Marines Cross The Han River Under Fire of Reds on a Hill

(Editor's Note: Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead was in the first assault wave of U. S. Marines to cross the Han river near Seoul at dawn today. His amphibious craft was hit by a shell, but he was unhurt. Here's his dispatch sent back from the front by courier and telephoned to Tokyo.)

WITH U. S. MARINES OUTSIDE SEOUL, Sept. 20—(AP)—A pale three-quarters moon was sliding below the horizon when the marines came out of their foxholes and started trudging toward the Han river today.

Ahead of them somewhere on the dusty road were the big amphibious tractors the assault waves would ride into the battle for the Han river bridgehead on the Seoul side.

Expected to End State of War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman is expected to ask Congress at the next session to proclaim that the United States is no longer in a state of war with Germany.

Congressional approval would put into effect for this country a decision announced yesterday by the western Big Three foreign ministers—the U. S., Britain and France.

It would extend to Germans—six years after their surrender—the privileges enjoyed by friendly foreigners. No longer held to be enemy aliens, Germans would be able to sue in American courts, make contracts and otherwise carry on trade. They also would have the formal assurance that any assets acquired in this country will be safe from seizure by the alien property custodian.

Talk Before The Lions Club On Football

Dick Sklar in Explanation of A Faster Game

"Changes in 1950 Playing Rules in College Football" was the subject Richard R. "Dick" Sklar, used in his talk to the Sedalia Lions club at their noonday meeting at Hotel Bothwell Wednesday.

Sklar, district manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, is also an official of the Missouri Valley conference and officiates at many of the games played in the conference. He has also traveled in the east where he officiated at some of the outstanding games of 1949.

In his talk he explained the numerous changes made in the rules of the game and gave the reasons for the changes. "I believe these changes will make the game much faster and will be better played, as well as giving protection to the players," Sklar said.

Tells of Experiences
Sklar is a former star of the University of Kansas Jayhawks and when introduced, began his talk with a few experiences of his football career.

Jimmy Glenn, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

In keeping with the Crazy Daze Chautauqua production to be presented tonight and Thursday by the Lions club, all members were present wearing various styles of ladies hats—otherwise they would have been fined by the club Tail Twister. Cline Cain was awarded the prize for the funniest hat and John Ellison for the most beautiful hat.

Arthur Morgan, a Kiwanian, was the guest of John Zander at the meeting.

Kenneth A. Buchholz, president, presided over the meeting.

Close Combat Ahead
A clugging match in the streets of the 500-year-old capital—a city normally of 1,000,000 people—seemed imminent.

First division Marines pulled out of Southeast Korea front lines for the surprise second front operation that began last Friday at Inchon, assaulted the Han's north-east bank eight miles northwest of Seoul as a three-quarter moon paled out in the daylight.

It stormed across the river in armtracks after navy guns had shelled and shattered Red strong points from waters off Inchon.

Call on Navy Big Guns
The Navy big guns—now joined at Inchon by the 16-inches of the Battleship Missouri—were called on to lob shells 20-odd miles inland after the Reds hurled back the earlier night-covered assault.

(The Army announced in Washington that South Korean marines had landed at Samchok on Korea's east coast directly opposite Seoul. Samchok is the terminus of a railway that crosses the peninsula to Seoul.)

(A spokesman said the landing occurred several days ago. This evidently was shortly after the U. S. Battleship Missouri blasted Samchok, which is about 105 miles north of the recaptured port of Pohang. There was no information on the size of the landing force.)

Ground artillery and warplanes also pounded the Reds before the dawn attack.

Correspondents at Front
AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, veteran of many European landings in the second world war, went across in an armtrack with the first wave. The enemy, tipped off by the night attempt, was waiting.

AP Correspondent Bill Ross, a second World War Marine combat correspondent who followed Whitehead, said the leathernecks suffered their heaviest casualties of the second front operation. Ross gave this account of the river assault.

The attack started at 6:45 a. m. (3:45 P. M., CST, Tuesday). Armtracks with Marines jamming their steel bellies churned the 300-yard-wide stream.

Second Drive to Cross Han River Good as the Red Koreans Fleeing

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 21—(AP)—Thousands of marines hurdled the Han river yesterday under furious enemy fire and today were reported hammering at the gates of Seoul.

General MacArthur's post-midnight communique said two armored columns were converging on Seoul against stiffening resistance. Enemy casualties were reported heavy.

The Marines on their first lunges from the river bank drove ahead four miles, half way to the Korean capital, field dispatches said. The communique did not say how close the Marines are to Seoul now.

Five hours after the first waves hit the far bank, powerful U. S. Tanks were ferried across. They churned up sand banks, plowed over rice paddies and moved into the van of the march on Seoul.

(The Army in Washington said South Korean Marines have landed at Samchok, on the east coast opposite Seoul. This is either to trap enemy forces on the east coast or is the beginning of a thrust along a lateral railroad line toward Seoul, 118 air miles to the west.)

The first Marine infantry assault wave hit the river at dawn in amphibious tractors loaded with leathernecks.

The Marines' first river crossing try in darkness was repulsed by Red gunfire. The second, after daybreak and a long-range naval shelling of the Reds from Inchon, made good.

The tanks rumbled southeast, bringing powerful fire support to leathernecks attacking hill positions outside Seoul.

Red Koreans were fleeing before this armored vanguard of a 40,000 man allied liberation force. Americans and their Communist enemy still were racing for possession of the capital. Communist troops rushed from the old southeast Korea front were reported streaming into Seoul along a winding secondary road from the southeast.

The leathernecks were striking at Seoul from the northwest.

Facts About Your Missouri Division of Employment Security

Workers Receive Benefits, Employers Foot Total Cost

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles on what the Missouri Division of Employment Security does. The editor of this newspaper, in cooperation with other editors of the Missouri Press Association, will publish a series of informative articles concerning the activities of the Division.

The multi-million dollar Missouri Division of Employment Security has more public contact than any other state agency. It also is the one agency whose functions probably are least understood by the public.

Employment security came into existence as an emergency measure by enactment of the 59th General Assembly and upon signature by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark on June 17, 1937.

The purpose of the law, the legislature said, was to "promote security against unemployment by increasing opportunities for job placement through the maintenance of a system of public employment offices and in providing for payment of compensation to individuals in respect to their unemployment through the accumulation of reserves."

Only Employers Pay

The legislature created a reserve fund by a provision in the law calling for the compulsory payment of wage taxes by employers.

This reserve was defined as the Unemployment Compensation Fund and it provided that only employers were to pay into it.

Not a cent is contributed to the fund by the workers who might derive benefits from it should they become "unemployed through no fault of their own."

Through unemployment insurance the legislature sought to temper the impact of joblessness.

Through the employment services the legislature sought to bring jobs and workers together.

Through both programs the legislature sought to preserve the morale of the worker and to stabilize the American system of living here in Missouri.

Nationwide in Scope

Today employment security has developed into a nationwide state and federal cooperative system.

It is a grass-roots program as well as a big city project.

It serves industry, business, agriculture and the worker alike.

It serves the community.

It is an insurance system for an effective and free productive economy.

It is a means of protecting the state and nation from the plague of recurrent unemployment.

Because they make other types of social security payments, or because withholding taxes are taken out of their wages by their employers, there are some workers who believe they are paying for unemployment compensation. However, this is a mistaken notion, because in no manner does the worker pay any tax money to the Division of Employment Security.

No Cost To State

No general tax money paid into the state treasury goes for unemployment compensation, either for payments to eligible workers in event of joblessness, or for the cost of administration. The employers who come within the jurisdiction of the law foot the entire cost of the employment security program in Missouri.

Social Security taxes, paid jointly by employer and employee, are reserved for the future old age security of the worker, or in the event of death prior to the 65th birthday anniversary, for the benefit of survivors. Social Security strictly is a federal old age benefit insurance program. It has no financial relation to the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

British Lose Hotels In Shanghai

SINGAPORE — (AP) — British hotel owners in Shanghai are forfeiting their hotels owned for generations by their families, rather than bring in fresh capital to keep them going, says Mrs. Jessie Ferguson, a Shanghai resident for 27 years, who is now on her way back to England.

Foreign residents found it extremely difficult to live in the Red-held city, she said. Business was slack. There was only one guest in a 15-floor skyscraper. Hotel owners had to pay heavy taxation to the Communist government—a policy designed to get rid of the foreign investor so the Reds could take over, she said.

Navy In Call For More WAVES

The Navy has called for additional women to volunteer for active duty at Naval shore stations in the United States as replacements for men qualified for sea duty.

An appeal for WAVE reservists, both officers and enlisted, to volunteer for a minimum of one year active duty to meet the critical need for women personnel was made by Vice Admiral John W. Roper, Chief of Naval Personnel.

At the same time, the Navy urges unmarried civilian women, who are high school graduates and between the age of 20 and 26 to enlist in the regular Navy under its increased quota for WAVE reservists.

"Women, both officers and enlisted, are required by almost every Naval shore activity in the continental United States to replace male officers and enlisted personnel qualified for sea duty," Vice Admiral Roper said.

WAVE reserve officers in the grades of lieutenant commander and below are needed in all classifications.

Enlisted women reservists are needed in all petty officer grades, including chief petty officers, in the emergency and general service ratings of teleman, radioman, communications technician, yeoman, personnelman, machine accountant, storekeeper, disbursing storekeeper, aerographers mate, tradesman, aviation storekeeper, hospital corpsman, and dental technician.

For further information on volunteering for active duty and on enlisting, individuals should inquire at your local Navy Recruiting Station, located in the post office building, Sedalia, Missouri.

"The marines have landed and the situation is well in hand."

But that was before the Reds had attacked the company.

The Reds hit hard and the little reconnaissance unit had to pull back across the river. The enemy had not been taken by surprise.

And now we knew the enemy would be waiting for the main attack. The troops milled around in the darkness. Confusion seemed to be everywhere as units groped for the right road which would lead them to the amtracks.

Finally, the Third battalion sorted itself out and the confusion resolved. The men climbed into the big amtracks with their weapons and ammunition, (packed closely together.)

Box of White Rabbits

Then I noticed the sergeant carrying the cardboard box—M/Sgt. Anthony Kent of 115 South Third street, Salina, Kas.

He noticed my curiosity and opened the top. Inside were three fluffy white rabbits sleeping soundly on a bed of straw.

Bought them with a package of cigarettes," Kent grinned. "Now they're our mascots."

Rabbits going into battle with the big tough marine! Suddenly I realized how young these warriors were.

There were 35 men in our amtrack. Dawn had broken when the amtrack column lurched forward and roared down the road toward the river.

The artillery thundered. The amtracks bounded and jerked down the road and then we were in the river.

Bullets began to slam against the side of our amtrack. Through a slit in the rear door I could see little spouts of water jumping up as bullets hit the water. But the steel sides protected us and the amtracks plowed ahead.

Then we were ashore and climbing a steep sandy bank. The machineguns were rattling. The men were tense. They gripped their weapons, ready for the dash through the door.

Slowly the door opened. Ser-

Missing Nurse

Miss Helen A. Maciolek, 25, (above), office nurse of Dr. Hermann Sander at Candia, N. H., has been reported by her mother as missing from her home at Hocksett, N. H. geant Kent was first out, carrying the box with the rabbits. As he hugged the shelter of a bank he put them down carefully beside him.

I dashed after the sergeant and then the man behind me screamed and pitched forward. At the same time we heard the crack of the rifle.

Then another marine screamed and fell from the amtrack.

Shoot Straight Down

The enemy on the hill above us was shooting straight down into our men as they came out the door. The driver fell wounded.

Mike Ehrlich thundered at his men to get out of the vehicle. Then he coolly sent a rifle squad around the ridge and ordered an amtrack machine gunner to swing his gun around and open fire.

An empty amtrack came by and Mike stopped it. He ordered the door opened and we carried out wounded inside to be ferried back across the Han.

Down the hill came frightened, whimpering civilians. Two women carried rosaries clutched to their breasts. The children were sobbing and frightened, their eyes wide with fear.

Sergeant Kent looked at the children and then went back down the hill. When he returned he carried the box with the three white rabbits. He sat down and slowly opened the lid and took one of the rabbits out in his hand.

like hand. He smiled at the children.

The fear went out of their eyes and tears stopped. Then they smiled and came over to peek into the box and exclaim over the mascots of the third battalion.

The sergeant grinned and put the rabbits back in the box and went back to his job.

In a short time our mortars were thumping shells into the enemy lines.

This time the Marines had landed and the situation was well in hand.

Just sharpen your pencil— and there you are!

ACROSS this broad land there are thousands of people who have been doing themselves a disfavor.

Seems they "just naturally assume" a Buick is beyond their reach—and so pass up the car they're really itching to own.

Now why "assume" anything as important to your happiness as a new car?

Why not see for yourself how delivered prices run—how close Buick matches your own budget—how frequently it is priced under some cars you may be considering?

Then—if there is a particular car in mind—sharpen up your pencil a little.

Is it a six—or an eight, like Buick? If an eight, is it a valve-in-head eight? That adds a plus in efficiency, you know, even without the extra edge of Buick's Fireball power.

Will you ride on four soft coil springs, as in Buick—or on only two? Will the drive be through a sealed torque-tube that keeps the rear wheel assembly firmly aligned? It is in a Buick.

Do you get soft, low-pressure tires as part of the price—or as extras? Will you have bumper guards built as part of the bumper, or a one-piece cast metal grille that can be costly to repair or replace?

Does the price include air cleaner; oil filter; dual horns, windshield wipers and sun visors; an automatic dome light; self-locking luggage lid; a single key for all locks?

And is there an automatic drive*, or one in which gears still shift in normal driving?

Yes, sharpen your pencil—and there you will be, in a Buick.

Whether it's a SPECIAL, a SUPER or a lordly ROADMASTER, you'll be driving the big buy of its price class, and getting a rich bonus of driving comfort, driving thrill and "fashion-first" styling.

But you have to make the first move. You are the one who has to find out. How about starting now—with a call on your Buick dealer?

*Dynaflex Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Modern Americans Could Learn Much From Founding Fathers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — When George Washington and the Founding Fathers first tried to make a go of this nation against the British, nor many of them knew much about Korea. Nor did they dream that some day their descendants would be fighting Communism all the way from Indo-China to Italy.

However, some of the ideas which the Founding Fathers hatched are directly applicable to Korea, Indo-China, and the rest of the world today.

Roy Norr, the publicist who made the American Tobacco Company cry "Uncle" in the famous "Reach for a Lucky Instead of a Sweet" campaign, has been doing important research on this point and reminds me that, when the British imported Hessian troops to do their fighting, George Washington decided to undermine them with propaganda. Only Washington used more high-brow words than "propaganda," namely "exciting a spirit of disaffection and desertion."

Anyway, Washington appointed a committee of propaganda experts, including the three top men in the would-be nation — Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Benjamin Franklin. And they revised a plan whereby Congress offered every Hessian who would desert the British 50 acres of free land.

In short, the Hessians were invited to quit fighting and make their home in the United States.

In addition, Benjamin Franklin wrote a propaganda letter, which was pure fiction and which he signed "Count von Schaumburg," regretting that so few Hessians had been lost in the Battle of Trenton. Naturally, the letter didn't make the Hessians feel too kindly toward their British-German masters.

On top of this, Franklin wrote a series of propaganda leaflets which were wrapped around quids of tobacco and smuggled into Hessian hands.

Net result of this propaganda was that, out of 30,000 Hessians, 6,000 deserted. George Washington had 6,000 fewer mercenaries to fight.

In contrast, here are some of the things we are not doing, and which the Communists are doing in different parts of the world.

Contrast No. 1 — Congress last week cut $20,000,000 from the State Department's propaganda budget. The Senate originally voted all the money the State Department requested, but when House and Senate conferees got together, House members chopped the appropriation by $20,000,000.

The congressmen who ignored the example of George Washington, Ben Franklin, et al, were:

Cannon of Missouri, Gore of Tennessee, Whitten of Mississippi, Rooney of New York, Gary of Virginia, Rabaut of Michigan, Democrats; and Taber of New York, Wigglesworth of Massachusetts and Stefan of Nebraska, Republicans.

Contrast No. 2 — First thing the Korean Communists did when they advanced into South Korea was redistribute the land. Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea, had long been talking about land reforms, but never did anything about it. The Communists, taking a leaf from George Washington's book, beat him to it.

The same thing has happened in Communist-held French Indo-China and in China. Free land to pinched peasants has had a greater effect than all the quinine, medicine, and technical advice we have flown in to help the Indo-Chinese.

Contrast No. 3—Dan Bell, former undersecretary of the treasury, has just returned from the Philippines with a similar report. Dan is no radical. He is president of the American Security and Trust company, one of the biggest banks in Washington, and went to the Philippines as head of a commission to see what we could do to prevent the islands from going Communist.

He reports that the land reforms long promised by President Quirino have never taken place. Quirino is a friend of the big land owners, including Col. Andres Soreanos, a former aide to General MacArthur. So the big estates have not been broken up and Communism is spreading like wildfire among the peasant, many of whom operate under slave labor conditions.

Contrast No. 4 — In southern Italy the situation is somewhat similar. There the chief weapon of the Communists is the vast landed estates, held by a few, while several million peasants are landless. For some time, Premier de Gasperi has considered land reform, but has been advised by American ECA officials that this would create a bad impression in Congress. Senator Taft, De Gasperi was warned, would feel toward Italy as he did toward the British Labor party and its nationalization proposals. Thus, ECA money for Italy might be jeopardized.

Yet, if there isn't land reform in southern Italy, it is fairly certain to suffer the same fate as northern Italy, now dominated by the Communists.

I doubt if George Washington would have agreed with our ECA officials in Italy.

Ghost Writers

There's an old saying among top executives

around the nation's capital that: "It's always dangerous to write your own speeches."

Actually, it was writing one of his own speeches that helped to undo Louey Johnson as Secretary of National Defense.

Last December 7, Johnson spoke before the Congress of American Industry in New York. In his speech he said: "We shall make sure that no 4 o'clock-in-the-morning attack will leave us prostrate at 5."

A few nights later, Johnson was scheduled to appear at the National Press club, before the University of Virginia Alumni Association. His aides offered him a prepared speech. Johnson declined. Instead, he spoke off the cuff and said:

"If Stalin attacks at 4 o'clock, we will knock hell out of him at 5."

Actually, Johnson was trying to recall the prepared speech he had used a few nights before. But that's what happened to one cabinet officer who tried to write his own speech.

Many Reservists and Draftees Feel Bitter Over Call to War

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Defense officials are concerned over the attitude of the men who are being drafted and called back into active duty.

Naturally there are as many different reactions as there are men being called up. But a sort of resigned bitterness about the whole thing seems to be the typical feeling. On top of that, reports from Selective Service headquarters indicate the rate of men trying to dodge the draft by various means is higher than World War III. And the machinery set up by the services to consider deferments from calls to active duty is being swamped.

As far as the services go the worry is that reluctant recruits might not make good fighting material and that the future reserve programs are going to need some severe overhauling. Letters from men soon to go in and interviews with them, tell the story. Here is a typical letter from a man in an organized reserve unit who has just gotten his call:

"When they signed me up they led us to believe that it was just a question of march a couple of times a month and get paid for it. And in the case of war everybody would be in and I'd be ahead of the other fellows.

Service Time Cuts Earning Power

"Now I've been called up and everybody else is staying home. In spite of what they tell me about job guarantees when I get back I know that the smart guys who stayed out of the organized reserve will get the promotions while I'm gone and a couple of years of my life will have gone for nothing as far as my earning power is concerned. Believe me, this is the end of any reserve units for me and plenty of other guys in my outfit."

It's unfortunate, but what he says has a lot of truth in it. Another reservist, a navigator, who has just received his call, states his opinion:

"They got me and I know it. I'm going in but they can't make me like it. I'd feel better if I didn't know about all the profiteering, black markets and graft that goes on while a few of us out there do all the fighting. We didn't know about those things last time, but we sure do now."

The news of strife within the services since the war and the more recent bitter denouncements of former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson have not helped the attitude of the draftees and reserves who face service. A Marine reserve captain makes this typical comment:

"Last war when you led men on the beaches you were convinced you were part of the best-equipped, best trained fighting force in history. And you thought you were saving the world for freedom. This made it easier when your men were killed and wounded.

"I don't know how I'd feel now, seeing my men die because maybe a squabble in the Pentagon had resulted in not enough of the right kind of bazookas. Or maybe having the feeling that this whole thing was just a mistake made by the State Department's striped pants boys. I don't know what I'd say if my men were to ask me about these things."

Why Are We Fighting?

As a result of the prominence given to international affairs since the war, many of the young men about to be drafted are pretty savvy about the world situation in general. This probably inspired the following comment from a youngster who had just received his notice to report for induction:

"It probably wouldn't have seemed so bad to be drafted to fight the Nazis. We knew we had to fight them. But I'm not so sure about fighting North Koreans, I'm just not sure why I have to fight."

And another one from a boy about to be drafted:

"My father fought to save the world for democracy. My brother fought to preserve freedom. But they haven't told me as yet what I'm supposed to save."

Military men, commenting on these attitudes, say that enthusiastic patriotic fervor has always been exaggerated as a factor in why men accept service in the past. "They go because they gotta go," one officer says. But the experts who are most concerned with this attitude do admit that that job of whipping up morale and fighting mood in the men taken today is going to be tougher than it ever has been, for the reasons given here.

It's a job which will require a big, sincere effort by the services.

—O—

I thought I could be of more service to my country in the Navy, but if I am not going to be in the Navy, then I feel that perhaps I could be of more service in Congress.

—Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin.

THE PATTERN IN THE MOUNT

We saw that we must be trained and be willing if we are to be guided. We must be willing to be guided of God, not merely now and then, but as a life proposition. You cannot get light in a crisis unless you are willing to get light in the continuous. God must not be called in to get you out of scrapes in which you have entangled yourself by continuous self-will.

A Swedish literary woman wanted God to tell her what the next step in her career was to be; and at length, in a surge of abandon that broke through all her reserves, she seemed to hear God saying, "How could you expect me to speak when you have gagged me so long?" Don't gag God in the continuous and expect Him to speak in the crisis.

In the beginning of guidance, then, make a decision that decides all decisions down the line—the decision that the will of God is first, last and always in your life. Nail that down. Let there be no loophole of exceptions. Make it absolute.

The plan of your life may be unfolded in a moment of sudden insight, or it may be a gradual unfolding. The gradual unfolding may be the highest form of guidance. "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord"—every two and a half feet. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet." Note, "unto my feet"—just enough light by which the next step can be taken and then the next. That puts adventure into life and a moment-by-moment trust. There is a surprise around every corner.

But the life guidance may be a sudden insight. One day, as a young man, I placed a letter on a chair and knelt before it. The answer to that letter would determine my lifework. The Inner Voice said, "It's India." I arose and said, "Then, it's India." That clear moment was a real moment, and has held me steady amid low moments of discouragement about the details in India. The Inner Voice brings inner unity.

O God, help me to build according to the pattern I see in the mount—in the moment when Thy voice is clear and I am receptive and responsive. For I cannot live on a surmise, but on a summons; not on a guess, but on a goal. I await Thy bidding and Thy blessing. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

With Knowledge Comes Hope
Heart Murmur Causes Known;

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Many people become terribly alarmed if they are told that they have—one of their children has—a heart murmur. Doctors are partly responsible for this attitude of fear because years ago they, too, considered any heart murmur as quite serious and often put people to bed for months at a time just because a murmur was heard. The situation now is quite different.

Just hearing a heart murmur is not enough. It is necessary to decide whether the murmur is a sign of serious heart disease and whether it is active or healed. Children frequently have heart murmurs which do not reflect any true disease of the heart. These are called functional murmurs. They are outgrown in time, and do not have any serious meaning.

The murmurs of the heart coming from disease are most commonly caused by rheumatic fever. Some, particularly in children, are the result of birth defects of the heart, and are called congenital murmurs. There are a few other possible causes for heart murmurs, but those two are by far the most common.

Most of the heart murmurs from birth defects are fairly serious. Some of them are responsible also for the "blue babies" of which everyone has heard. Today some of these birth defects of the heart can be corrected by surgery. The question of what to do for those with murmurs caused by rheu-

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Ruff

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The former Ede Frey, whose marriage to Peter Flood has not been entirely successful, was placed in charge of Frey & Company, an advertising agency, under terms of her father's will. Dan Reagan, one of the executives, tells Ede that the Morn-Glo soap account is shaky and Ede calls on Lewis Northcott, advertising manager of Morn-Glo, and learns that other agencies have been "winning" at the account. She plans to please Northcott with a new campaign. Later she goes to a cocktail lounge with Jenn. While there she sees Jenn, her younger sister, in company with Hamilton Grieve, a much older man. Recalling her own unfortunate marriage, Ede is worried about Jenn.

XV

EDE gazed disapprovingly at the slim, black-frocked back of Jenn who was still unaware of her sister's presence.

"Want to ask them to join us?" Dan Reagan asked.

"No, I'd rather she didn't see me," Ede said. "It might rob Jenn of what she probably considers a golden moment." She frowned, toying with the stem of her cocktail glass. "This is off the record, Dan, but I don't think all of my troubles are going to be confined to business."

Jenn and Hamilton Grieve left after one drink, with Jenn's careless laugh sounding above the soft tinkle of the piano as they departed. Soon afterwards Reagan took Ede home in a taxi.

In the lower hallway the butler met her with messages from Jeff and Jenn. Both had phoned announcing their intention of being out for dinner. Mr. Jeffrey, the butler said, was dining at his club. Miss Jennifer had not stated where she was going.

Ede had dinner with the preoccupied and almost inarticulate Myron. She tried to take her youngest brother apart and find out how he ticked. Myron's monosyllables were discouraging in the extreme. But she did learn one thing. Myron professed himself satisfied with the status quo. He liked his job in the agency; he didn't want to do anything else. He was quite content, he said, to let matters take their course.

"You don't seem to have any too much ambition," Ede told him bluntly.

Myron smiled, a shy rather-disarming smile. "Don't you worry about me, Ede," he said. "I'll do all right."

Perhaps he would at that, Ede thought. She knew that he did his work creditably enough. She knew that the other people at the agency liked Myron. And certainly, during these trying weeks he had given her less to think about than Jeff, with his fits of sulking and nervousness; than the restless eager Jenn. She decided to let Myron alone. He was more or less the sleeping dog of the family.

EDE went up to her room directly after dinner, promising herself a quiet evening. At 9:30 the butler tapped on her door.

"Mr. Melbourne has been downstairs for over half an hour," he informed Ede. "He insists on seeing Miss Jennifer. I told him she was out, but he wanted to wait. He seems upset, Miss Ede."

She found Tommy Melbourne in the drawing room and Mr. Melbourne was distraught. His broad shoulders were encased in an impeccable dinner jacket, but there his resemblance to a gentleman about to embark upon a gay evening ended. An angry flush dyed the clear golden skin of Tommy Melbourne's cheeks and his wheat-colored hair was slightly awry. He rose with a jerk as Ede entered the room.

Tommy looked at the floor, a little sheepishly. "I—I didn't mean to have you bothered with it, Mrs. Flood."

"It's no bother. Is it about Jenn?"

He nodded, his gray eyes miserable. "Yes. I had a date with her tonight. But she stood me up. It's the third time in two weeks."

Ede's lips tightened. That little fool of a Jennifer. "Why do you bother with her at all, Tommy?" she asked.

"Why?" He ran a hand nervously through his light hair and looked at her as if she'd made the most childish of remarks.

"I see," said Ede slowly. "You're pretty crazy about her, aren't you?"

He didn't deny it. He spread his hands in a hopeless gesture.

"And, of course," said Ede, "you've made the mistake of letting her know it."

HE thought this over. "Well, I guess my technique is pretty awful. But I couldn't help it. She's"—he drew a breath—"well, there isn't anyone else for me."

Ede felt infinite pity for him. He was so young and attractive—and dumb.

"Why don't you try spanking her, Tommy?" she said.

He stared at her as if she'd uttered sacrilege. "Who, me?"

"Yes. She needs it very badly. And, as for your technique, you're making a technical error right now. If Jenn came in and found you waiting for her, it would just increase her sense of importance."

"I suppose there might be something to that," Tommy said thoughtfully. "Gee, I don't understand women."

"You certainly don't, Tommy. My advice is, give Jenn the run-around. Play the game the way she's playing it."

"If I did, I'd lose her altogether," he grumbled.

"Well, your present tactics don't seem to be getting you very far. And you ought to leave her right now. If you see Jenn tonight, you will only have a scrap. You'll let her see how upset you are. And, believe me, Tommy, it will give her no end of satisfaction. Women love that."

Tommy looked at her, said, with more shrewdness than she had given him credit for. "You wouldn't love it though, would you?"

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's another of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men, and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. Just how much time must a man have had to serve before the Korean crisis to qualify him for a draft deferment now?

A. If a man served honorably a year or more between Sept. 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948, he is not liable for service, nor is he liable if he served honorably for more than 90 days during the shooting war—that is, between Dec. 7, 1941, and Sept. 2, 1945. If he served honorably between Sept. 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948, for more than 90 days, but less than a year, he is conditionally deferred if he is in one of the organized reserve units.

Q. Where do navigators stand on the critical list of personnel needed by the Air Force?

A. At the top.

Q. My daughter is 17 and was recently married. I wanted to get in the Army nurse corps before my daughter was married, but they turned me down. Can I get in now?

A. The rule says that women with dependents under 18 are not eligible. Assuming your daughter is no longer a dependent, since her marriage, that factor shouldn't disqualify you any longer.

Q. Are any women Marines being called up from the reserves?

A. A few.

Q. The Marines have announced that they're not taking officers over the rank of captain. Does that mean that a major in the reserves can't volunteer?

A. Officers above the rank of captain can volunteer and the chances are good of their being taken.

Q. Can Seabees get back in the Navy with their old rates?

A. Generally speaking, yes.

Miss Betty Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hays, of California, was chosen Miss Montebau County in the queen contest sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the fourth annual V. J. day celebration. She will represent Montebau county in the queen contest at the American Royal in October with her expenses and the expenses of a chaperone paid for by the American Royal for a five day visit to Kansas City to participate in the event. Miss Betty Laue, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Laue of California, was chosen maid of honor. In spite of the uncomfortable weather a large crowd attended the celebration at the fair grounds and proceeds totaling approximately $1,000 will be applied to the new Post home.

Out of town visitors were honored at a dessert bridge given by Mrs. Neil Newton and Mrs. Ned Cole at the home of Miss Jen Morrison last Thursday afternoon. Guests of honor were Mrs. Sumter English of St. Louis, who with her son Sumpter English III and small daughter is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Cole, Mrs. Jack Bisco of New York City, who with her daughter Barbara is visiting her mother, Mrs. T. M. Fulks and brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fulks, and Mrs. Richard Mac Leish, also of New York who is spending several weeks with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Latham. Mrs. Will Hert of Sedalia was also an out of town guest. The guests of honor were presented gifts from the hostesses and high score favors were given to each high scorer at each of the nine tables.

Guests in the home of Mrs. S. C. Gill for the past week were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wells of Tyler, Texas and her niece, Mrs. E. R. Boyle, Bates City.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnston entertained eleven young people of the Methodist church, who are leaving for college, at a breakfast at their home last Monday morning. Those attending and their prospective schools are: June Haub, Kansas City National College for Christian Workers; Jack Crawford, Derry Brownfield, Jim Bunch and Jim Hall, Missouri University; Bill Haub, Maryann Bunch, Buddy Popejoy and Roy Lee Handley, Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg; Bob Newton, Kansas University and Merle Cartwright, Central at Fayette. Miss Eleanor Goddard, Seymour, Conn., was also a guest. She is visiting with the Johnstons before entering college at Cape Girardeau.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Blank for the past week were their son-in-law and grandson, Donald Lafien and Jimmy of Covington, Ky. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Uel Blank of Columbia were visitors in the home over the weekend.

John C. Kibbe and John W. English of California took the oath of attorneys and received their license to practice law at a special session of the Supreme Court in Jefferson City Saturday, September 9. They were among the 240 who passed the bar examinations early in the summer and all were honored at a luncheon given by

Must You Avoid Favorite Foods?
...because of Acid Stomach?

Nearly everyone has favorite foods that bring on heartburn, sourness, acid indigestion. But millions have found the answer is simple as A-B-C. They just carry a handy roll of Tums in pocket or purse. Eat 1 or 2 like candy for quick, soothing relief. Tums contain no soda or over-alkaline or cause acid rebound. And they are FAST! Cost only a dime. Get a roll today!

Needleworkers Of Byberry Met

The Byberry Needle Workers club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Tom Jergerson. The visitors were: Mrs. Truman Rodel and daughter, Mrs. Willard Howard and two children, Mrs. Kelley Wyss of Jamestown, Mrs. Herman Knipp, Mrs. Dick Dermer, Mrs. Leo Koehner and children, Miss Mildred Orschels of Tipton, Mrs. Ruby Hatfield of Kansas City.

The members embroidered cup towels for the hostess. A covered dish luncheon was served at the noon hour. In the afternoon the meeting was called to order and a prayer was offered for the fighting men in Korea and for those who had been called to service. The prayer was led by Mrs. George Putnam.

By Extension Club

The Bowling Green home extension club held its September meeting Thursday at the Claude V. Gardner home in Beaman. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. G. N. Holman were hostesses. Sixteen members and five visitors were present at noon. Mrs. W. L. Marlin and Mrs. Etta Scott were visitors.

At the afternoon business session Mrs. J. W. Stephens, the vice president, presided. Roll call was answered by giving a maxim or Bible verse. The club voted on a choice of demonstration for 1951 meetings. Plans were made for the community fair to be held at the Beaman hall Sept. 30. The awards will be given to 4-Hers and for some school work.

Mrs. John Rush and Mrs. Jack Alfrey were selected club representatives at the textile painting and glass etching demonstration Sept. 19.

At the election of officers, the following were chosen: Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin, president; Mrs. A. L. Brewer, vice president; Clara Hohman, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Iva Yeager, song leader; Mrs. John Rush, game leader; Mrs. P. A. Carry, reporter; Mrs. L. E. Morris, parliamentarian; Mrs. C. V. Gardner, parent education; Mrs. W. Wilkie, health chairman; Mrs. L. V. Igo, reading; Mrs. J. W. Stephens, community improvements in Mrs. Gardner, 4-H and RYO.

Mrs. Igo gave a report on re-finishings floors and walls and gave out leaflets and samples. The meeting closed with a game, after which the hostess opened her gifts.

Lovely Annie Jones
Licks Stomach
Distress With Hadacol

Had been suffering from lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in her system

Annie Lou Jones, 626 W. Cotton Street, Pulaski, Tennessee, is a charming young girl who shows a lot of sense. You can tell from this letter she writes us about how she keeps up with the latest medical advances and how she went about relieving a former stomach disturbance. She writes: "I'm 17 years old and have been taking HADACOL for a long period of time. Before taking HADACOL I was very sick. I was bothered with a continuous stomach disorder. I was underweight and tried many different medicines but failed to get any results. "I was doing extension work, but because I was so sick I was about ready to give up my job. When suddenly I thought about so many people praising HADACOL and, after reading about it in the papers, I decided I would give it a try. "Now, after taking HADACOL, I feel much better in every way. HADACOL has helped me overcome my sickness and I have energy to continue working. I also have a good appetite and have gained weight. I could tell a great improvement after taking my first bottle of HADACOL. At present I've had about 10 bottles—so may I say to everybody I know HADACOL is good and I hope it will endure through all generations. "A Wonderful New Treatment HADACOL is that wonderful new treatment for relieving indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour 'risings' after meals), constipation, diarrhea and that general run-down condition if your system lacks Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL is being recommended by many doctors. It is not a quick-acting antacid which gives you relief for a short time only. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because it treats the cause of your trouble due to such deficiencies. And continued use of this wonderful HADACOL treatment helps prevent such stomach misery from coming back. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately. Only One Genuine HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering fiendish torture from your stomach when relief is as close at hand as your nearest drug-store. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle, only $1.19. Large family or hospital size, $3.39. Refuse substitutes! There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. *Photo by professional model. ©1950, The LeBlanc Corporation

FALL DISEASES

In September, October and November, as well as Spring of the year, as we go from one season to another with fairly warm days and chilly, damp nights we may expect diseases in our herds and flocks. These diseases are due to lowered resistance.
Pastuerella infection is in most cases the causative factor. Prompt administration of effective products may save many animals and poultry. Hemorrhagic Septicemia Bacterin, Anti-Hemorrhagic Septicemia Serum, the sulfonamides and Penicillin may be used according to their indications in the treatment and prevention of Pastuerella infections.

Three Clubs Are But Half Game Apart

New York, Detroit And Boston in Hot Race For Flag

By Murray Rose
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The American League had a brand new race going today with a bunch of fast-aging players. New York, Boston and Detroit were only a half game apart with only 12 days to go in the tense battle for world series loot.

The pace-setting Yankees fell within a whisper of the runners-up last night by losing to Chicago 4-3.

Detroit belted out Philadelphia, 12-4, in a day game and Boston was rained out in Cleveland to set up the tie for second place.

So here's the way the three teams stood going into today's three-fronted action.

Detroit	89	53	1/2	12

Today it was New York at Chicago, Philadelphia at Detroit and Boston at Cleveland, the last a doubleheader. Players can be counted on to give the scoreboard as much attention as they do the opposing pitchers.

Besides losing a game they almost had won, the Yankees temporarily lost the services of Vic Raschi, 20-game ace. The crack righthander, who pitched an inning of relief last Sunday to save a game against the Browns, was riding a 3-2 lead for 6 1/2 innings when he complained his arm "didn't feel right."

Tom Ferrick, a demon rescue worker until recently, failed in the clutch again. Chico Carrasquel nicked him for a single and Gus Niarhos, the former Yank, doubled him to third. With two out Nelson Fox blasted a triple to center to drive in the tying and winning runs.

The Yanks had gone ahead 3-2 on Joe DiMaggio's 31st homer and Yogi Berra's 24th four-bagger, the latter's a two-run blow. Chicago southpaw Bob Cain yielded only four hits.

In Detroit where Red Rolfe reshuffled his lineup, the Tigers' spirits soared. Hoping to get more attack in his lineup, Rolfe sent in Charlie Keller, Pat Mullin and Dick Kroyhoski to replace Vic Wertz. The change worked.

Keller, the ex-Yankee, was making his first start in the lineup after invaluable pinch-hitting duties. He answered the bell like an old firehorse, powering two homers, two singles and driving in five runs. Mullin blasted out a homer and double. Kroyhoski whacked out two singles.

Washington nipped St. Louis 5-3 in the other American League contest.

In the quiet of the National League race, Boston moved a full game up on Philadelphia by nipping St. Louis 7-6 while the Phils were clipped, 1-0, by Chicago. Brooklyn's Dodgers also moved up by whipping Pittsburgh twice, 14-3 and 3-2. The Cincinnati New York game was rained out.

Tommy Holmes' single with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth drove in the winning run for Boston against St. Louis.

Hank Sauer's 30th homer in the fifth and Frank Hiller's gilded two-hit pitching beat the Phils and Robin Roberts. Roberts tossed a four-hitter himself in a futile quest for his 20th win.

Brooklyn powered its way to victory with homers. Gil Hodges and Duke Snider each hit a pair in the opener to overshadow Ralph Kiner's two homers (Nos. 44 and 45). In the windup Eddie Miksis and Tommy Brown hit first inning homers for the three runs and victory.

Choose Notre Dame to Hold The Top Spot

Army Only Grid Team Rated as Serious Threat

By Will Grimsley

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Notre Dame's deated legions, who haven't been repulsed on the gridiron since 1945, were chosen today to retain their National College Football championship.

In an unprecedented pre-season sports writers and broadcasters heaped an overwhelming vote on Frank Leahy's stalwarts as the No. 1 team of 1950.

Only Army was rated serious opposition as Oklahoma and California, two giants of the 1949 season, experienced a sharp drop in favor.

Oklahoma's Sooners, second last year, were picked sixth in the new analysis and California's Golden Bears plummeted all the way from third to 14th.

Here's how the press box corps from coast to coast sees the teams finishing in the developing campaign: Notre Dame, Army, Michigan, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Stanford, Illinois, Cornell and Southern Methodist.

The Fighting Irish, unbeaten in 38 games dating back to the end of the last war, received 101 first place votes in the 125 cast. They were listed on every ballot and were at least 1-2-3 on every paper but one.

This gave the men of South Bend a resounding total of 1,219 points on the regular AP poll basis—ten points for first, nine for second and on down the line.

No other team received more than seven No. 1 votes and Army shared this number with Texas, which is expected to run wild in the southwest this year.

Other first place votes went to Michigan, 5; Oklahoma, 3, and Tennessee and Illinois, 1 each. Army, dominating the second place vote, received a total of 930 points. Michigan drew 688, Tennessee 553 and Texas 539.

Notre Dame's last setback was a 38-7 loss to Great Lakes in the final game of the 1945 season

Parachutist Killed At Kansas State Fair

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Sept. 20—(AP)—A parachute jumper was killed at the Kansas State Fair Tuesday when his chute failed to open as he was making a delayed jump.

Twelve thousand spectators saw the man, identified as Denny Midland, make the fatal jump. He was believed to be from St. Paul, Minn.

He was scheduled to jump from 1,500 feet and drop 1,000 feet before opening his parachute. Witnesses said the parachute streamered at about 200 feet but failed to open.

The jumper landed in a cane field about one-half mile from the race track where he had been scheduled to light.

You Can't Build A Better Mousetrap!

"They're not the best-looking boarders a man ever had," Hack Turner said one day, "and they've got awful tempers. But I've found it pays to have 'em around."

Hack was talking about a family of barn owls, nesting in his silo this year. Some folks believe those little white-faced screechers kill chickens—and ought to be shot on sight. But Hack disagrees.

"Up at State University they've studied barn owls for years—and never known one to eat a chicken. On the other hand, a daddy owl will clean up around 300 mice a month. Farmers that kill barn owls are throwing away the best mousetraps known to man!"

From where I sit, when someone shows a prejudice against any group of animals or humans—it's usually just based on misunderstanding. For instance, some folks are plumb intolerant about those of us who enjoy an occasional quiet glass of beer. Get to really know us and you're liable to find we're pretty good birds at that!

Cars Fail to Duck Crash
SOUTH PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—A low-flying duck was blamed for this traffic mishap. An unidentified driver swerved to avoid a tame duck that took off toward him from some roadside shrubbery and his car struck another in an adjoining lane. Police found only the duck and a couple of witnesses. Neither car was badly damaged and the owners had driven on.

Red China's Moscow Link; What it Means

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON — Experts on the Far East acknowledge there are two unhappy channels through which the Korean fighting might spread to Red China:

1. Through Chinese Communist troops' going into Korea.
2. Through Formosa, which the Chinese Communists have said they will take, and which President Truman has said the U. S. will protect.

So the leader of Red China, Mao Tse Tung, is watched for every move and word.

State Department experts say the main question is this: Will Mao conduct Chinese Communism for the good of China alone, or will he sacrifice Chinese needs at the command of Moscow?

Some American commentators hope that Moscow and Peking will finally tangle over Manchuria and the Northwest China provinces. But State Department experts say that if Mao leans in any direction it's towards Moscow.

The Chinese Reds have asked that Formosa be discussed in the U.N. Is Mao acting as a purely Chinese leader? Or is he jumping as a Communist puppet?

To these questions State Department experts put forward these facts:

The Chinese Reds want to represent their country in the U. N. But the U. N. charter pledges its members to seek peaceful negotiation rather than war. Knowing the U. N. pledge, will the Chinese Reds abide by negotiation on Formosa and give up their threat to attack?

Very shortly after Chinese Red troops subdued their nation Mao went to Moscow to sign a Russian agreement. It said the Soviets and China would jump to each other's defense if Japan or "any nation connected with Japan" attacked.

In June, 1949, Mao had followed the rest of the world's Communist leaders with a statement that China would go to war on the Soviet side, if Russia became involved in a war.

On June 30 of this year he issued a statement which said there was no middle path through today's politics and that China would go to war on the Soviet side, if Russia became involved in a war.

On June 30 of this year he issued a statement which said there was no middle path through today's politics and that China would be on the Soviet side of the path.

The national friendships which Red China is cementing around the world, and their sequence, are indications that Mao jumps to the Moscow tune. His government recognized Moscow as soon as possible and in quick succession recognized the satellite nations that live in the Moscow shadow.

When Yugoslavia, a Communist government in bad standing with Moscow, made a move to recognize Red China, Mao ignored the Yugoslavs.

Mao was one of the first, and still is one of the few, to recognize the Communist guerilla leader of Indo-China—Ho Chi Minh.

Mao has ignored Britain's early move to recognize his government, except for diplomatic notes that merely delay final action.

A few days ago Pravda, Moscow's most authoritative newspaper, carried a story about 50 incidents of British planes flying over Chinese lands, from June on, in the neighborhood of Hong Kong.

But again experts here must ask: Is this Mao's government speaking or it is Moscow? The Chinese have always wanted to take control of Hong Kong away from the British.

Mrs. Marilyn Baker, 402 East Sycamore St., Evansville, Indiana, says HADACOL isn't good—it is absolutely wonderful. She says if she praised HADACOL every minute of the day, it would not be enough. Mrs. Baker's system was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, all of which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Baker's statement: "I had been sickly for some time. I even at one time had to quit school because I was so weak and skinny. My nerves were so bad and shaky I had headaches all the time. I tried many things to help build up my system but nothing helped. I knew my system needed something, but I just didn't have any appetite. Then my mother started me taking HADACOL. It seemed like my appetite improved with the first dose and now since I have taken HADACOL for over 5 months I have gained 15 lbs. Now my nerves are just fine. I feel wonderful, thanks to HADACOL. I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

HADACOL Is So Effective
because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails. Many thousands whose systems were deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin are benefiting from HADACOL . . . even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients.

Refuse Substitutes
There is only one HADACOL. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on Genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel better with the first few bottles you take or your money back. Trial Size only $1.25. Large Family or Hospital Size, $3.50.

Red Desert
BERLIN—(A) — East Germans brought this latest anti-Russian joke to West Berlin:

Papa Stalin visited the Russian zone and asked an old lady on the street how things were going.

"Oh, pretty good," she replied, "only we don't get milk any more."

"Well," said Stalin, "In the African deserts they don't even have water."

"Why in Africa?" wondered the old lady. "Have the Russians occupied that, too?"

Truman States Confidence In Nation's Labor

Message Also O.K.'s Worker's Aversion To Taft-Hartley Law

By Max Skelton

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman in a message to the American Federation of Labor convention Tuesday expressed confidence American workers will "Go all out" to expand production "so we can arm ourselves and help arm the free world."

"In this way," he said, "we will make the United States and the Democratic nations powerful enough to meet the challenge of Communist imperialism that today is a world menace."

The message was read by George Meaney, secretary-treasurer of the union. It said labor groups are "absolutely right" in opposing the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

"It should be repealed in the interest of the working men and women," Mr. Truman said.

Harriman Calls for Taft Defeat

Previous to the reading of the message, W. Averell Harriman, Mr. Truman's trusted advisor, called for the defeat of Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) in November.

He asserted before the convention that the Ohioan "cannot be trusted" with a role in the world crisis. Taft is co-author of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Harriman said Communist objectives would have been furthered if congress had carried out some of Taft's positions.

"We no longer can afford to leave in positions of high responsibility men who fail to recognize that American leadership is essential to the peace of the world," Harriman said.

Taft, informed of Harriman's statements, said in Columbus, O.: "They seem to me name calling and not down to facts. He (Harriman) was addressing an AFL convention, and I suppose that kind of talk might have been popular there."

Wherry Upholds Taft

Senate Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska said in Washington Harriman was trying to blame others for the administration's "betrayals." Wherry said Harriman was using "an old Russian dodge to charge one's own guilt to others."

"Senator Taft has stood and is standing as a bulwark for the security and freedom of the United States," Wherry said.

Harriman departed from his prepared speech to say Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is "playing right into the hands of the Communists."

McCarthy, called at an American Legion rally here last night for the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. He said General George C. Marshall, as secretary of defense, "will follow Acheson's orders."

White House sources in Washington said they did not know whether Harriman cleared his address with Mr. Truman but said they were sure Harriman said nothing distasteful to the President.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

First Season Of Light Opera For Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 20—(AP)—The first season of light opera at Kansas City's Starlight Theater in Swope Park will open next summer with Sigmund Romberg's "The Desert Song."

John A. Moore, president of the Starlight Theater Association, announced this Tuesday.

The next meeting will be Monday afternoon, September 25th.

Moore said Jerome Whyte, production manager of the Theater Guild, New York, and Paul Beisman, manager of the St. Louis Municipal Opera, will arrive Thursday to discuss plans.

Beisman, who started the St. Louis enterprise, had agreed to help the Kansas City group get the first season under way successfully.
